A FEMALE BURGLAR

CORA FIELDS, A WELL KNOWN NEGRESS, AGAIN IN THE TOILS.

ACCUSED OF HOUSEBREAKING

CUT A SCREEN FROM THE HOME OF MRS. J. BENTON.

Police Have So Far Secured No Clue to the "Burglar" Who Took $300 From the Missouri Savings Bank Last Friday.

Cora Fields, a negress who has been arrested by the police a score of times for theft and minor offenses, is once more in the clutches of the law. She was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Detectives Dwyer and Lowe at 1614 Baltimore avenue, and locked up at police headquarters for burglary and larceny. She is accused this time of robbing the dwelling house of Mrs. J. Benton, of 714 West Seventeenth street. The robbery was committed one week ago yesterday. The woman entered the house by cutting the screen from a window. She secured a lot of dress goods, a bracelet, $2 in money and a lot of cheap jewelry. The goods were recovered yesterday and the woman confessed her guilt. Cora Fields has had a checkered career. She has served short sentences in the workhouse and county jail for robbery. Not long ago Officers McCongrove and Greeley went to a house at Fourth and Broadway to arrest her. She saw the officers enter the house and jumped out of a second story window and made her escape. She jumped a distance of nearly thirty feet and was not injured in the least. A few days after she was arrested and sent to the workhouse to serve out a $100 fine. She is the first female burglar the police have arrested for a long time.

Bank "Burglars" Not Caught.

There were no developments yesterday that would tend in any way to throw any light on the mysterious theft of a big stack of silver dollars from a small iron safe in the Missouri Savings bank Friday afternoon, as told in The Journal yesterday morning. The police have no clue and the bank officials admit that they are still in the dark as to how or by whom the robbery was committed.

The police were informed yesterday that only 20 silver dollars and 80 copper pennies were taken. The police have no theories to advance concerning the robbery. The bank officials say that the theft was perpetrated by a very daring sneak thief. They declare that it would be possible for a thief to sneak into the bank during the day and make away with the money without attracting the attention of any of the bank's employees or patrons. They say that the thief was in the building at the time if a robbery had been made. The police are looking it out in a sack or a satchel the police

WHO WILL HELP HER?

Mrs. Mary Schaeffer is homeless and penniless and a slave to the Liquor Habit.

Mrs. Mary Schaeffer, an elderly woman who has been arrested by the police almost as many times as she has hairs in her head, was taken from the workhouse yesterday afternoon to police headquarters and made a trusty in the apartments of Mrs. Matt Moore, the police matron. Mrs. Schaeffer was serving a sentence in the workhouse for a year and a half when she was taken there. She is a native of Pennsylvania and has been many times before for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. She is nearly 60 years old—homeless and penniless—and hasn't a relative in the world of whom she has any knowledge.

Until a few years ago Mrs. Schaeffer was a devout Christian. Her love for strong drink caused her downfall. A few years ago she met with an accident and was sent to a hospital for treatment. While in the hospital she was given whisky in small quantities to relieve her condition. That way she cultivated a taste for strong drink and in a few months after she left the hospital she was a hopeless wreck. The police have taken her out of the gutter many times.

Mrs. Schaeffer was wealthy before she came to Kansas City ten or twelve years ago. She formerly lived in St. Louis and the luxuries that wealth could buy. She came into possession of a fine estate and a handsome thousand dollars at the death of her husband, but all this she squandered and lost in a few years. She is now penniless and homeless.

When she was arrested the police had no place to send her except to the workhouse. Despite her years she is fairly well preserved and it marks of dissipation prior to the death of her husband and the loss of her fortune. She is a handsome, motherly looking old woman. Police Matron Moore will attempt to rescue her from this state of affairs and to send her to a drunkard's grave.

SAD LITTLE DOMESTIC STORY.

C. H. Berry Goes Home Drunk for the First Time and His Wife Has an Attack of Hysteria.

C. H. Berry went home drunk yesterday for the first time, and his conduct frightened his wife so badly that she became hysterical. Mrs. Berry finally fainted, and her husband was unable to arouse her. Her actions yesterday, and the effect of sobering him up. He thought she had taken poison, and he rushed to the nearest telephone and summoned the police ambulance.

Dr. Manahan accompanied the ambulance and told the woman to be suffering from hysteria. Her condition was not serious and she was revived after a few minutes without being taken to police headquarters.

PINCHED HIS TOES.

A Colored Lad Whose Shoes Were Tight Tells His Trouble to a Bluecoat.

He said his name was Alonzo Marshall and he told Captain Brannan at police headquarters that he lived at Twenty-fourth and Main streets. He is as black as the proverbial ace of spades and tears were streaming down his face like water down a river bluff when he sauntered into the police station, harked and in his shirt sleeves. He carried a pair of shoes "What's wrong?" asked Captain Brannan as the little negro craned his neck to get his face above the desk in the cop-

BARBER IS A BULLY.

He Annoys His Landlady by Destroying Furniture While Under the Influence of Liquor.

Mrs. Katie Marsh, the proprietress of a boarding house at 207 East Seventh street, appeared at police headquarters three different times at a late hour Friday night and demanded the services of a policeman in protecting her from the assaults of a barber who rooms at her place.

Mrs. Marsh told the police that the barber had been drinking and broke her watch and chain. Then he took a knife and cut the pillows and a mattress on the bed. Mrs. Marsh said that he did $25 worth of damage to her furniture by slamming it around and throwing it on the floors. Officer Kinney went to the boarding house three times after the man and was unable to find him. He has not been arrested yet.

HE PLANTED FISTS.

Frank Wexelroder Assaults Joe Cotlander Without Giving Any Explanation.

Joe Cotlander, of 2088 Wyoming street, was sitting in front of a saloon at Twenty-fourth and Wyoming street Friday night, debating with a friend as to how long the dry spell would continue if it didn't rain, when Frank Wexelroder approached him and planted his fists in his face with the force of a pile driver.

Cotlander showed the effects of rough treatment when he appeared at the office of the clerk of the police court yesterday afternoon and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wexelroder. The warrant was served and Wexelroder will appear before Justice Spitz Monday and tell his side of the story. He lives at 2012 Wyoming street. Cotlander was not injured badly enough to require the services of a surgeon.

SHE DEALT A SPADE.

In a Row Mattie Anderson Fractured the Skull of Her Sister Lulu.

Because she is one year older than her sister, Mattie, Lulu Anderson wanted to run things in her father's household at 210 Holmes street to suit her own fancy. Mattie objected and a hair-pulling match followed. Mattie was not a match for Lulu in a hand-to-hand struggle, and she grabbed up a spade and dealt her a terrific blow on the head with the implement.

The blow fractured Lulu's skull and she was otherwise "bruised." Dr. Manahan dressed her injuries at police headquarters and sent her to the city hospital. Her condition is not serious. Mattie was not placed under arrest.

A Lively Altercation.

Walter G. Meller and Dr. W. C. Feld had an altercation yesterday noon in front of Mr. Meller's office, 123 East Twelfth street. Dr. Feld received several blows in the face, and Mr. Meller was pushed through a glass window and received a slight wound in the fleshy part of his right shoulder from a piece of broken glass.

"Don't you try to mess before you invest your money in them?" asked the captain.

"Ah, ah, didn't," was the reply.

"He told me he would hit me now, Ah, what a man," said Meller. "I couldn't see very well when he bought those shoes, and I didn't know he was a doctor."

But the captain told the lad he couldn't do anything for him and he left the station, crying bitterly.

HAD A BLOODED HORSE.

Possession Caused Suspicion to Rest on Harry McNish, Who Had Served Time for Theft.

Detectives Ennis and Boyle arrested Harry McNish at the horse market at Fifth street and Grand avenue yesterday morning while he was trying to dispose of a blooded horse worth fully $200 for a mere trifle. He was locked up at police headquarters until history that he bought the horse from a man named Clark at Lansing, Kas., can be investigated. McNish's past record is responsible for his arrest. He was sent to the penitentiary from this county several years ago for a term of two years for stealing a bicycle.

McNish was arrested a few years ago for killing twelve or fifteen tame turkeys on the farm of a man who lives near Independence. When arrested for the offense the only excuse he offered was that he didn't know the game season was over.

FIVE ESTATES DISPOSED OF.

Wills of Old Residents Admitted to Probate—Wear, Wise and Jewell.

Four wills were filed in the probate court yesterday, three of them being the wills of old residents.

A certified copy of the will of Emma Jewell, of Washington, D. C., was filed. Mrs. Jewell was the wife of Thomas J. Jewell, who was a well known attorney of the firm of Jewell & Thompson, in Kansas City, several years ago.

Johanna Wise, widow of Hiram S. Wise, who lived for many years at First and Holmes streets, and was an old Indian trader, was made executrix of the estate. He left one daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Fraher, wife of James W. Fraher, one city attorney of Kansas City.

Letters of administration were refused to the widow of George F. Le Van, who was killed recently in a Missouri Pacific train. Judge Andrew Ellison, brother of Judge James Ellison, of the court of appeals, is an old time friend of the family.

The will of Abram W. Wear, an early Indian trader, who died July 8, was admitted to probate. Mr. Wear was the father of Mrs. Frederick Chouteau, whose husband was one of the large land owners of the city some years ago.

Much Time Saved Via Burlington Route.

The best train service to Tacoma, Seattle and Puget sound points, only 77 hours from Kansas City, 12 hours shorter time than by any other line. This train leaves Kansas City at 10:40 a. m., tourist sleepers leave Tuesday and Thursday without change by the Burlington route. Ticket office, 323 Main street.

West Terrace Not Ended Yet.

The West Terrace park condemnation proceedings will be resumed in Judge Gibson's court to-morrow. It will probably take a greater part of this week to finish the case.

BASEBALL TOMBSTONE.

Curiously Marked Grave of an Ex-President of the National League.

From the Chicago Journal.

The grave of William A. Hulbert in Graceland cemetery is perhaps the only one in the world which is marked with a tombstone in the shape of a baseball. Mr. Hulbert was the president of the old National League, and when he died in 1882 some of his old associates set about to show their love and respect for him, and the result was the monument in Graceland. The baseball is made of red granite, about twenty inches in diameter, showing the seams as they appear upon one of the balls used in regulation games. Across the top appears in raised letters: "W. A. Hulbert, President National League, P. B. B. C., 1854, 1882." On one side appear the names of four clubs in the old league—Boston, Providence, Worcester, Troy—and on the other those of the other four—Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit and Chicago.

Also there is a headstone of white marble, upon which appears the name, together with the date of birth, October 22, 1854, and the date of death, April 19, 1932.

NEW UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Will Be Opened for Public Service This Morning—Was Formerly Christ Episcopal.

The new Universalist church, at Tenth and Park avenue, will be opened for public services at 11 o'clock this morning. This church was formerly Christ Church—Reformed Episcopal—built by the hands of the Universalists last May. Since then the contractors and decorators have done their best, and the result is that the building will take place during the sessions of the Missouri Universalist convention, which meets in this city in October.

Modest.

From the Detroit Free Press.

A family in the western part of the city is fortunate in possessing a goodly piece of ground about their house, and the back part of it is comfortably filled with fruit trees and garden plants and vegetables. The other day two ragged little urchins came knocking at the front door and asked the lady of the house if they could have some apples.

"Certainly," said the kind hearted lady. "We don't like to have little boys come and take them without asking us, but when they ask as you have, we are glad to give them some. You want some apples to eat, do you? Well, go and eat all you want to."

For twenty minutes all was silent in the back yard, and finally the lady went back to see how the boys were getting on. Imagine her surprise at seeing a big sack lying filled with apples and the boys busy filling another. One of them was up in the tree.

"Oh," said she, "I didn't say that you could take all the apples there was. I don't like to have anyone go up in the tree, but if you have, we are glad to give you those that have fallen on the ground."

By this time one little fellow was half way over the back fence. He said: "Excuse me, ma'am, but we did just pick up those on the ground."

"How does it happen then, that you are up in the tree?"

"Well, you see, I just got up there to rest."

"GULLIVER'S TRAVELS"

LITTLE FOLK AND A BIG MAN REPRODUCED SOME OF THEM.

Fabled City of Lilliputia Was Restored, Like Lost Atlantis, at Troost Park Yesterday—Interesting Programme.

Dean Swift's masterpiece, "Gulliver's Travels," was given a lifelike illustration at Troost park yesterday. Not only was Gulliver himself present, but scores of the residents of the fabled city of Lilliputia, aping the airs of the nineteenth century, and, treading the boards of a mimic stage at the park, carried out some part of the audience back to childhood's days when the giant and the little people fought for supremacy in an imaginary land.

It was children's day at Troost park, and hundreds were present to enjoy the sight of their favorite giant and pygmies in living form. To those who had not read the book the exhibition was a revelation, and to those who had, it was a confirmation of what they had always believed. The opening scene was a procession of little men and women in pony carts and on horseback, led by the redoubtable Gulliver himself, who took a commanding position on the stage to observe the cakewalk that led the performance. Cakewalks were not discovered when Gulliver lived, but this fact did not seem to astonish him at all, as he viewed the performance with a calm and unflinching countenance, when the last couple had finished, a wistful expression spread over his face, as though, like Oliver Twist, he craved more.

Following the cakewalks were declamations by youthful orators, and songs by still more youthful singers, and then Gulliver and his cohorts took the stage and pictured several of the scenes in the history of that remarkable personage's life.

BILLY RICE HERE TO-DAY.

Heads a Big Minstrel Company Which Will Appear at Fairmount Park This Week.

Black will be the fashionable color on the stage of the theater at Fairmount park for the week which begins with the minstrel performance, and as long as Haverly was in his triumphs. For the past few years the comedian has remained in the East, where his popularity is so great that he does not often make long trips.

In the company, which will be headed by this clever end man, will be found a collection of well known minstrels. On the end opposite Rice there will be Dan Altman, a comedian of much originality. Charles Kent, one of the best baritone voices of the minstrel stage, and who has always been well received in Kansas City, will be in the center, and as he is a graceful dancer, he should be a success in the position. McMahon and King, noted no less

Home for Infants Incorporated.

A decree of incorporation was granted by Judge James Gibson yesterday to the St. Anthony's Home for Infants. The women who are at the head of the orphan's home are: Mary L. Keith, Henrietta E. Deady, Hannah C. Frenkel, Emma G. Clarke, Zoe P. Blair, Agnes M. Johnson.

A $7,000 Real Estate Deal.

The old Charles R. Lockridge place, of eighty acres, near Leeds, was sold by K. B. Armour yesterday to F. C. Watts, for $7,000. The property is just southwest of Leeds, and the Kansas City, Osceola & Southern railway runs through it.

For Assaulting a Little Girl.

Ben Jones was arraigned in Justice Wail's court yesterday on the charge of assaulting Alma Pickett, a little girl. His bond was fixed at $100, in default of which he was committed to jail. His trial will take place Thursday.

Court Briefs.

The Tabernacle Baptist church filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The Keystone Zinc and Lead Mining Company, capital stock $20,000, filed articles of incorporation yesterday.

MORTGAGE NOT SATISFIED.

Two Oklahoma Cattlemen Arrested at the Instigation of a Commission Company.

Two Oklahoma cattlemen, W. H. Coleman and Charles H. Smith, were placed in jail here yesterday. The men were arrested on their ranch near El Reno Thursday by Marshal Chiles and Deputy Lunt Wilson. They have retained John C. Turner, formerly of the district judge in Oklahoma, to defend them.

The action of the Jones Bros. Live Stock Commission Company, which caused their arrest, is that it lost $7,000 on three mortgages made by the two men under arrest. The amounts of the mortgages were $7,500, $5,000 and $5,000. When the instruments were foreclosed, it is alleged, the cattle failed to bring the amount of the mortgages by $7,000.

The two cattlemen were a bank cashier of El Reno who had something to do with the transaction. He has not been arrested yet.

LIKE MOVING A MOUNTAIN.

Hard Work to Transfer a Country School House From One Location to Another.

An answer to the mandamus suit brought by J. B. Colton to compel U. R. Holmes, C. M. Johnson and T. T. Moore to move a country school house near Hickman's Mills, was filed in Judge Glover's court yesterday. It is claimed by the defendants that there is not enough money in the treasury to move the building; that the $1,000 insurance now on it would be invalidated by moving it; that there is not a good title to the tract to which it is proposed to move it, and that the site is indefinitely situated.
